

International Film Shorts: Let's Talk About Water with Linda Lilienfeld

Time: Wednesday, March 13, 12pm-1pm, 2004A

Please join the Freshwater team for a brownbag presentation hosted by Karin Krchnak, Director of Freshwater, and Linda Lilienfeld, creator of the Let's Talk About Water film symposia. This session will showcase a collection of provocative short films from around the world that tackles modern-day freshwater issues.

Linda Lilienfeld is the creator and project coordinator of Let's Talk About Water.

Linda has thirty-five years of experience as a film and picture researcher, specializing in science and history on projects ranging from PBS documentaries to museum exhibits and books. She has served for the past ten years as a research assistant to Peggy Parsons, curator of the Film Program at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, DC, and has been a member of the steering committee and pre-screening committee for the International Water and Film Events (www.riec-iwfe.org). Let's Talk About Water reviews subjects such as access to water, pollution, flooding, conservation, drought, impacts of global warming, policy challenges and more.
